SOCIALISTS FEAR REBEL TRIUMPH

PRESIDENT IS PEEVED ABOUT FRONTIER TALE

Says Question of Secrecy is All Bunk

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt permitted newsmen to quote him directly today on what he described as his restatement of United States foreign policy.

"The (foreign) policy," he said, "has not changed and it is not going to change. If you want a comparatively simple statement of the policy I will give it to you and Kannee (Harry Kannee, official stenographer) can copy it out afterwards."

No. 1: We are against any enmeshing alliances; obviously.

No. 2: We are in favor of the maintenance of world trade for everybody—all nations—including ourselves.

No. 3: We are in complete sympathy with any and every effort made to reduce or limit armaments.

No. 4: As a nation—as American people—we are sympathetic with the economic maintenance of political, economic and social independence of all nations in the world.

Usually reporters are required to refrain from quoting directly what the chief executive says at his press conferences. Instead they quote him indirectly.

Believe 8 Fire-Fighters Crushed To Death

Disapproved

By a vote of 13 to 3 the senate judiciary committee disapproved President Roosevelt's nomination of Judge Floyd Roberts (above) to a federal judgeship. Roberts is of Bristol, Va., and his appointment was opposed by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia.

TRAPPED UNDER FALLING WALLS IN EAST TODAY

Ninth Victim Rescued But Badly Injured

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The plight of eight firemen buried for more than five hours in the fire-scarred ruins of a five-story office building, was described by rescuers as "hopeless" when the structure's two remaining walls fell inward today.

"We've just about given up hope of getting any of them out alive," declared District Fire Chief Frank M. Savage.

Collapsing of the two side walls of the building piled tons of additional debris upon the trapped men, who were fighting the blaze from the third floor when the roof collapsed and carried them with it into the basement.

One Man Rescued

A ninth fireman, trapped in the wreckage with the eight still missing, was rescued an hour after the collapse and taken to a hospital, critically injured. Two others were treated in hospitals for minor injuries received earlier.

Final collapse of the walls was accompanied by a fresh burst of flame from the smoking wreckage. Firemen found new streams of water on the blaze before resuming rescue operations.

Two hundred public works department employees were put to work in the ruins with picks and shovels as the city mobilized all its resources in a desperate attempt to reach the trapped men.

Before the collapse of the walls, rescue workers had reported hearing voices coming from the ruins and had expressed hope that some of the men still were alive.

Hysterical Families

Families of the victims huddled in a fire station near the scene of the blaze, many of the women weeping and hysterical.

The structure where the fire occurred, known as the Collins block, is located near the heart of the business section. An adjoining building was undamaged, fire walls preventing spread of the flames.

The lone fireman rescued from the wreckage was taken to a hospital.

Bet the Kids Who Braved Blizzard Will Be Mad Now

Even the wind which brought in Sunday night's blizzard has blown somebody good.

Students who have missed school this week as a result of the storm will be counted as being present. It was said today in a letter by John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, to County Superintendent of Schools Clarence J. Kennedy.

What is equally important, the days when schools were closed may be counted by school boards, as school days when figuring their shares of the state school distributive fund. However, said the state superintendent, not more than five days may be counted.

JAP SUBMARINE LIES CRIPPLED ON SEA BOTTOM

Hope For Its Crew of 48 is About Given Up

Tokyo, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Japan's crack long-range submarine I-63, capable of a cruise to the United States and return without refueling, lay at the bottom of the turbulent Bungo channel today, crippled in a collision with a sister submarine.

Thirty hours had passed without news from it, and hope for its crew of about 48 was almost given up.

Navy ships were nosing out from the great Kure navy base at dawn yesterday when the collision occurred in the deep, dangerous strait, between Shikoku and Kyushu islands at the southwestern end of the Japanese island group. The I-63 sank at once.

Maneuvers were suspended and urgent calls sent for salvage crews. News of the ship's sinking was withheld by the navy until midday today, and this was taken to mean that all efforts to raise it or even to contact it had failed. It was admittedly a most difficult task to raise a submarine in the strait, because of the depth and roughness of the water, and there was the further question whether the submarine's inner hull had been pierced. It was announced, however, that rescue work continued with salvage crews based at the town of Beppu.

The I-63 is one of 12 submarines of the Kaigun type, designed for long range work on the basis of experience with the Kaigun experimental types I-51 and I-52. It sister submarine I-55 was damaged seriously in a typhoon in July, 1936.

Large Cruising Radius

Japan's fighting ships, the submarine's naval publication, reports that the I-63 and its sister ships are of very large cruising radius, with a range estimated at 16,000 miles. The I-63 is of 1,635 tons surface displacement and 2,100 tons submerged. Its two Diesel engines give it a surface speed of 19 knots and a submerged speed of nine knots. It is 331 feet long and is equipped with eight 21-inch torpedo tubes, a 4.7-inch gun and a machine gun. It was completed at Sasebo navy base in 1928.

Prisoners at San Quentin Strike For Better Food

Some 2,750 hungry, sullen convicts went on a hunger strike at San Quentin prison in California, ostensibly against the prison's diet. More than half of the prison's population participated in the strike. Warden Court Smith expressed the belief that food was not the real issue. Some of the convicts are shown here milling about the prison yard beside the mess hall.

Garlic Now Part of Menu for the Duke, Duchess

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Don't breathe to a soul, but—garlic has entered into the romantic lives of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

This was the aromatic tidbit, waited today by Benjamin Gaylord Hauser, Viennese dietitian and food counselor to the former King Edward VIII and his American-born wife, Wallis Warfield.

Not that the dizzily heady leek has arisen as a menace to the world's most famous romance. Hauser hastened to explain, following his arrival on the French liner Normandie.

"It is still going as strong as ever, perhaps a bit stronger," he said.

"You see, both have taken it up," Hauser said he prescribed garlic, along with the uices of spinach, carrots and celery, to stimulate health and build up general ruggedness.

Prison Head Sees Danger Of Violence

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Feb. 3.—(UP)—The hunger strike of San Quentin convicts appeared virtually ended today when all but 133 of the prison's 5,266 inmates succumbed to the lure of a square meal and trooped into the mess hall for breakfast.

A cell-by-cell checkup disclosed more than 2,360 prisoners had changed their minds about turning down the prison fare today. Yesterday 2,500 refused to eat because the food was "monotonous" and consisted of "too much corned beef hash."

San Quentin, Calif., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Warden Court Smith saw a lurking danger of violence today as a strike of 2,700 curly, hunger-strung convicts—more than half of the 5,250 inmates of overcrowded San Quentin prison—went into its third day.

"There is something else behind this strike—something more than objections to the food we serve," the warden said.

The strike started when 1,500 convicts complained the food was not to their liking and refused to eat lunch. By nightfall, 3,800 convicts had decided to fast. The number dwindled more than a thousand yesterday when strikers were kept locked in their cells and put on a bread and water diet.

Prison authorities frankly were worried over the possibility that hunger might result in increased sullenness and, eventually, in violence.

Warden Smith said no punishment would be inflicted on the strikers at present, and probably none would be punished as long as there was no disorder.

LEADING ACTOR IN COURTROOM DRAMA IS GONE

Bogus Employer of Momence Youth Disappears

Scene 1—Jan. 16 in county court. Those present are County Judge G. D. Henry, Parole Officer G. A. Mills, a man who gave his name as Frederick Troy of Momence rural route 1, and Virion Denton, 21, of Momence who has been at liberty on probation.

The supposed Troy is speaking. "Yeah, sure, I'll give Denton a job," he says. "He's going to drive a truck for me. Out of his wages I'll send the court $3 a week on the $23 he owes on that back check deal. That way he can square himself with the court."

The court says, "Okay, I'll let Denton go free on that understanding."

What's This?

Scene 2—In the home of G. A. Mills, 797 Cobb boulevard, the morning of Feb. 2. Mills has his face all lathered to shave. The phone rings.

"This is Frederick Troy of Momence," says a voice on the phone. "I got a letter from you asking about past due $3 a week. What's it mean?"

There is some more conversation in which Troy keeps repeating, "I'll give you a job."

LAUNCH DRIVE IN FRANCE TO AID LOYALISTS

Urge War Supplies Be Rushed to Halt Possible War

INTERNATIONAL-AT-A-GLANCE

By the Associated Press

London—Bomb blasts shatter baggage rooms of two subway stations in central London; officials suspect anti-British terrorism by Irish Republicans.

Paris—Socialists launch drive for aid for Spanish government; French senator goes to insurgent Spain to make informal overtures.

Perpignan—Franco's forces reported 23 miles south of French frontier in steady northward drive; government tries to stamp out insurgent spies in northern Catalonia.

Barcelona—"Fifth column" aids insurgents round up government sympathizers for trial.

Rome—Italian press accuses Roosevelt of trying to provoke war.

Brussels—Premier Spaak beaten by war veterans protesting honor accorded physician who was wartime German sympathizer.

By the Associated Press

French Socialists began a new drive today to win aid for the hard-pressed Spanish government as France made informal overtures to insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The Socialist party, encouraged by the Spanish government's avowed determination to continue its resistance, published an "appeal to the people of France" urging that war supplies be rushed to end the prospect of war which would arise from an insurgent triumph.

At the same time, French Senator Leon Berard was traveling to Burgos, the Spanish insurgent capital, and was understood to have the approval of Premier Daladier for conversations with Franco. Berard was expected to negotiate safe transfer to insurgent Spain of Spanish government troops and to sound out Franco on the possibility of France sending a commercial agent to Burgos.

Espionage Activities

Both sides of the civil war, meanwhile, sharpened their espionage and counter-espionage services. In Barcelona, "fifth column" agents—insurgent sympathizers who operated secretly behind the government lines—alleged Franco's military intelligence corps in rounding up enemies of his regime.

The government military police began raiding their counter-espionage system in an attempt to wipe out spies from remaining government territory in northern Catalonia.

Insurgent dispatches said Franco's

Juvenile Delinquent Is Serious Problem

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Greater use of foster homes for the training of wayward boys and girls in lieu of reform institutions was proposed by Judge Harrington Wood of Springfield in an address yesterday before the 37th annual convention of the Illinois County and Probate Judges Association.

Wood, speaking as president of the association, said that "in far too many cases boys go into an institution knowing how to steal a bicycle and come out knowing how to rob a bank." Institutions like the St. Charles, Ill., school for boys should be used only as a last resort, he said.

The old system of catching, convicting and confining hasn't solved the crime problem," Judge Wood said. "It seems to me it is high time that we do something as a state for the prevention of crime."

He recommended establishment of two "camps," one downstate and the second near Chicago, for the type of juvenile delinquent who "perhaps should not go into a private home, but who should not be

CALLS LINCOLN 'TALLEST MAN' IN U.S. HISTORY

Authority On Life of Emancipator Talks Here

Abraham Lincoln was ranked as "our tallest American" by the Rev. David Nelson of Leroy, an outstanding authority on the life of the rail-splitter, who addressed the Rotary club Thursday noon in the Hotel Kankakee. He also spoke before the Men's club of the First Methodist church last evening.

Discussing Lincoln as a lawyer, Rev. Nelson said, "we wouldn't ever have known of this man but for the suffering he endured." He referred to object poverty, many bitter experiences and defeats of the civil war president. "Lincoln had a mind that craved education as most men's stomachs crave food. He had no opportunities to attend schools and was called lazy because he spent much time reading law books," according to the speaker.

Test of Greatness

When he went to Cincinnati on his first big case in 1837, he met the lawyer Stanton who bluntly asserted "If that big giraffe is going to be on the case, count me out." Lincoln of course withdrew and although the remark pained him deeply, he had the courage to appoint Stanton to his cabinet when he rose to the presidency.

The minister showed how Lincoln's greatness had its roots in New Salem, where as a youth he was encouraged and influenced by several well educated men, including

A group of 45 members of Young People's Christian Endeavor societies in Kankakee county observed the 50th anniversary of the founding of their organization last evening at a party held in the Y. W. C. A. The party was moved from the park community house because of the deep snow in the park.

The committee, including Chester Sirois of St. Anne, LaVerne Johnson of West Kankakee, Alfreda Stokes and Frederick Meyers of Bradley and representatives of other societies in the county, will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon Feb. 12 in the Christian church.

The next meeting of the county group will be Thursday evening, March 9 in the Presbyterian church at St. Anne, at which election of officers will be held.

British Money Expert to Talk Here Monday

Sir Charles Morgan-Webb, organizing secretary of the monetary committee of the House of Commons of the British parliament, will discuss international relations in his lecture "England Looks at the World" next Monday evening at the meeting of the Kankakee Forum at the high school auditorium.

Sir Charles is considered one of the foremost authorities on the British system of managed currency and has written several books on the subject. His service to the empire has taken several expressions.

After a distinguished career in the Indian civil service, he became secretary to the government of Burma in 1918. He was appointed vice chancellor of the University of Rangoon in 1920 and a year later the first chairman of the Rangoon development trust, a body which transformed Rangoon from an over-crowded, unsanitary hemmed in by swamps, into an expansive city on modern lines and which owed its creation to the personal initiative of Sir Charles.

Also A Publisher

From 1925 to 1930 he was proprietor of the Fitchley Press in London and has been president of the London and Suburban Press, which he founded from 1929 to date. In Sept. 1937, he was appointed secretary of the monetary committee.

His viewpoint is that of the Anthony Eden school and his lectures and radio talks have been widely commented upon wherever he has appeared.

He will be introduced by William A. Schneider, who with Mrs. Schneider, will entertain for him after the lecture.

Stavros was formerly one of the proprietors of the Chicago Candy Kitchen in the building now owned by the National Tea company at Court street and Schuyler avenue.

The suits were for rent alleged to have become due before the grocery company purchased the building. Police Magistrate Edward Hoenicke, who heard the suits several weeks ago, decided against Stavros.

Captor Of Local Nurse Gets Reward

The Chicago policeman who captured Mrs. Mary Schuch, 36, former Kankakee nurse who robbed the president of the Drexel state bank of $5,000 after threatening to blow up the place last Dec. 21, was one of nine officers awarded extra compensation for outstanding work during 1938.

Patrolman Christopher Covington, colored, of the Wabash avenue station, received $300, the largest amount given, for arresting the woman.

Mrs. Schuch approached R. J. Neal, the bank president and demanded he give her a note for $5,000. She displayed two vials which she said contained an explosive, but which actually were filled with water.

After cashing the note at a teller's window, she was seized by Patrolman Covington as she stepped from the door.

She told officers she was penniless and desperate because she could not support her eight-year-old daughter, Cecilia, in a Bourbonnais convent. Mrs. Schuch is now serving a 1 to 10 year term in the Dwight reformatory for the crime.

Missing Couple Sold Papa's Auto

The automobile of Frank Lazara, 566 North Dearborn avenue, which disappeared from his garage Tuesday afternoon, was found last night by Sheriff Dan Bergan.

It was found at the P. & G. auto sales agency, 297 South West avenue, where it had been sold for $225. Sale was easy because the title papers were in the car.

Carl Lazara, son of the owner, and Estelle Sisk, who disappeared at the same time as the car's disappearance, have not been found.

FREE WHEELING

Paul Pettit, 16, Peoria youth, decided to leave home yesterday afternoon. He got on his bike and pedaled 110 miles, arriving here about 10:20 o'clock last night. He was picked up in the 500 block on East Locust street by Officers John Powell and Jay Cahan and State Patrolman George Beckheim. His parents were notified and they were to come for him this evening.

PLAN A REPEAL OF NEUTRALITY ACT VERY SOON

Democrats Want To Give FDR Further Authority

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Roosevelt's reported determination to add the European democracies to the administration might try to modify or repeal the neutrality act.

The subject was discussed informally by influential congressmen as the senate military committee, meeting in a closed session at 3:30 p. m., debated whether to make public the record of its inquiry into the projected sale of American-made warplanes to France.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) appeared to have the support of a majority of the committee in his demand for disclosing all testimony which involved no military secrets.

Because the neutrality act prohibits shipping war materials to belligerents, Senator Logan (D-Ky.) said it seemed reasonable to assume that if the administration were committed to helping the democracies, it would want to change the law before any conflict broke out.

"I think we ought to repeal the neutrality law," declared Logan.

Then the president would have a free hand in shaping our foreign policy, as the constitution provides.

Repeal Situation Lightly

Despite the continuing senate floor vote over Mr. Roosevelt's endorsement of the French plane transaction, house members dealing with the defense program remained unruffled.

Several members of the house military committee, they had known for some time of the proposed sale of war materials by private manufacturers but considered it the logical thing to do.

Rep. Hart (D-Ohio) said he regarded excitement of some senators over the proposition as a temperate leap.

"It's all bunkum," added Rep. Snyder (D-Pa.), chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee. "Immediate production of military planes for France by the aircraft industry in this country actually will insure more rapid delivery of the French plane transaction, house members dealing with the defense program remained unruffled."

MORE DEPUTIES ARE NEEDED BY STATE SHERIFFS

Big Issue Before The Convention at Cap- ital Next Week

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 3.—An organized move for more deputies, countering a state house proposal for more state policemen, will be one of the issues before the convention of the Illinois sheriffs association at Springfield next week.

Eighteen sheriffs from northern Illinois met here yesterday, discussed Attorney General John E. Cassiday's drive against slot machines and contended the county law enforcement officers should have more assistants.

"The slot machine campaign is a build-up for the centralization of police power in Springfield," said Sheriff Elmer J. Hoffman of Wheaton.

Edmund J. Welter of LaSalle county and Harry C. Bennett of Boone, among others, argued that the use of state highway policemen in the gambling drive was part of an effort to get the state force increased from 350 to 500 men.

Welter and Bennett said local officers could suppress crime more efficiently if they had more assistance. Welter said a sheriff should have a deputy for every 10,000 persons in his county. He and others at the conference debated several plans to raise money for the employment of additional officers.

Plan Reorganization
Along with the old constitutional amendment proposal to let sheriffs run for reelection and succeed themselves in office, the men at the Aurora conference announced they would agitate for reorganization of the sheriffs association.

Sheriff William C. Bell of Rockford called the association a "racket," with a big membership of outsiders. They contended that only sheriffs should be members and hold offices, similar to the organization of the state's attorneys association.

To pay added deputies, Welter suggested that county boards furnish the money from regular, tax sources. Sheriff Marcus W. Damisch of Kane county, who presided, advocated the use of license fees on rural taverns. Another proposal was for a special tax levy.

Two state's attorneys, Taylor Wilhelm of LaSalle and Robert E. Nash of Winnebago, addressed the sheriffs.

Illinois Relief Fund Shows Big Increase in 1938

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—An expenditure of $65,873,808 for direct relief in Illinois during 1938 was reported today by the Illinois emergency relief commission.

The commission's annual report showed the 1938 expenditure exceeded that of the previous year by $7,311,646.

E. F. Ferebee, IERC statistician, said 61.1 per cent of the 1938 expenditure was raised by state taxes, and 35.9 by local taxes.

The direct relief cost for Chicago in 1938 was $34,657,095 as compared with $31,425,237 during 1937.

Ferebee said the average monthly number of home relief cases in the state was 180,022. There were 210,971 cases, or 650,141 individuals, on the relief rolls in March, the month in which relief loads usually reach a seasonal peak.

During 1938, Ferebee said 132,177 cases or 43.8 per cent of the total accepted for relief never had received public relief in the past.

There were 301,483 cases opened and 291,662 closed in 1938, indicating that nearly a third of the relief families left the relief rolls and a slightly smaller number was added.

Former Senator from Oregon Dies; Washington, D. C.

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Frederick Steiwer, who served 11 years as a Republican senator from Oregon, died early today at the age of 55.

Near the end of his second term, he resigned from the senate Jan. 31, 1938, to practice law here. He had not been in the best of health for the past three years.

Steiwer delivered the keynote address at the Republican national convention in Cleveland in 1936, and had been mentioned that year as a possible presidential nominee.

"No government can borrow itself rich, or spend itself prosperous," he told the delegates at Cleveland, and that expression summed up much of his political philosophy as reflected in his senate career.

He supported some Roosevelt administration proposals, including the first farm act and the Wagner act, but opposed most of the President's fiscal policies.
